

We're proud to support Lowcountry Local First as a Do Gooder partner of the 2022 Good Business Summit! If your business produces food waste in the Charleston area, please consider our recycling program.

Why do we care so much about commercial food waste?

Commercial food waste takes up landfill space and generates methane gas which is 30 times more toxic than carbon dioxide. Together we can divert organic waste, compost it, and use it to regenerate the soil with nutrients making a full circle local ecosystem.

We are proud to work with several Starbucks in the Charleston area. Meghan from the SMART team (left) is with the manager of the 239 King Street location after an on-site training.

Free On-Site Training for Attendees of the Good Business Summit

When onboarding our SMART partners, employee training is key to the success of our food recycling program. Virtual training is our standard offering for staff-wide education, but businesses attending the 2022 Good Business Summit will receive on-site staff training at no charge.
